FIFTEEN FIFTEEN

JAMESON HOUSE

CARDERO

Gensler

Central Park House was purposefully designed by Gensler, a global caliber architecture and design firm. Their projects have redefined some of the greatest cities in the world, including the 632 meter-high Shanghai Tower, China's tallest building and the world's second tallest tower.

Central Park House is Gensler's first residential project in Metro Vancouver, and will withstand the test of time on Burnaby's skyline.

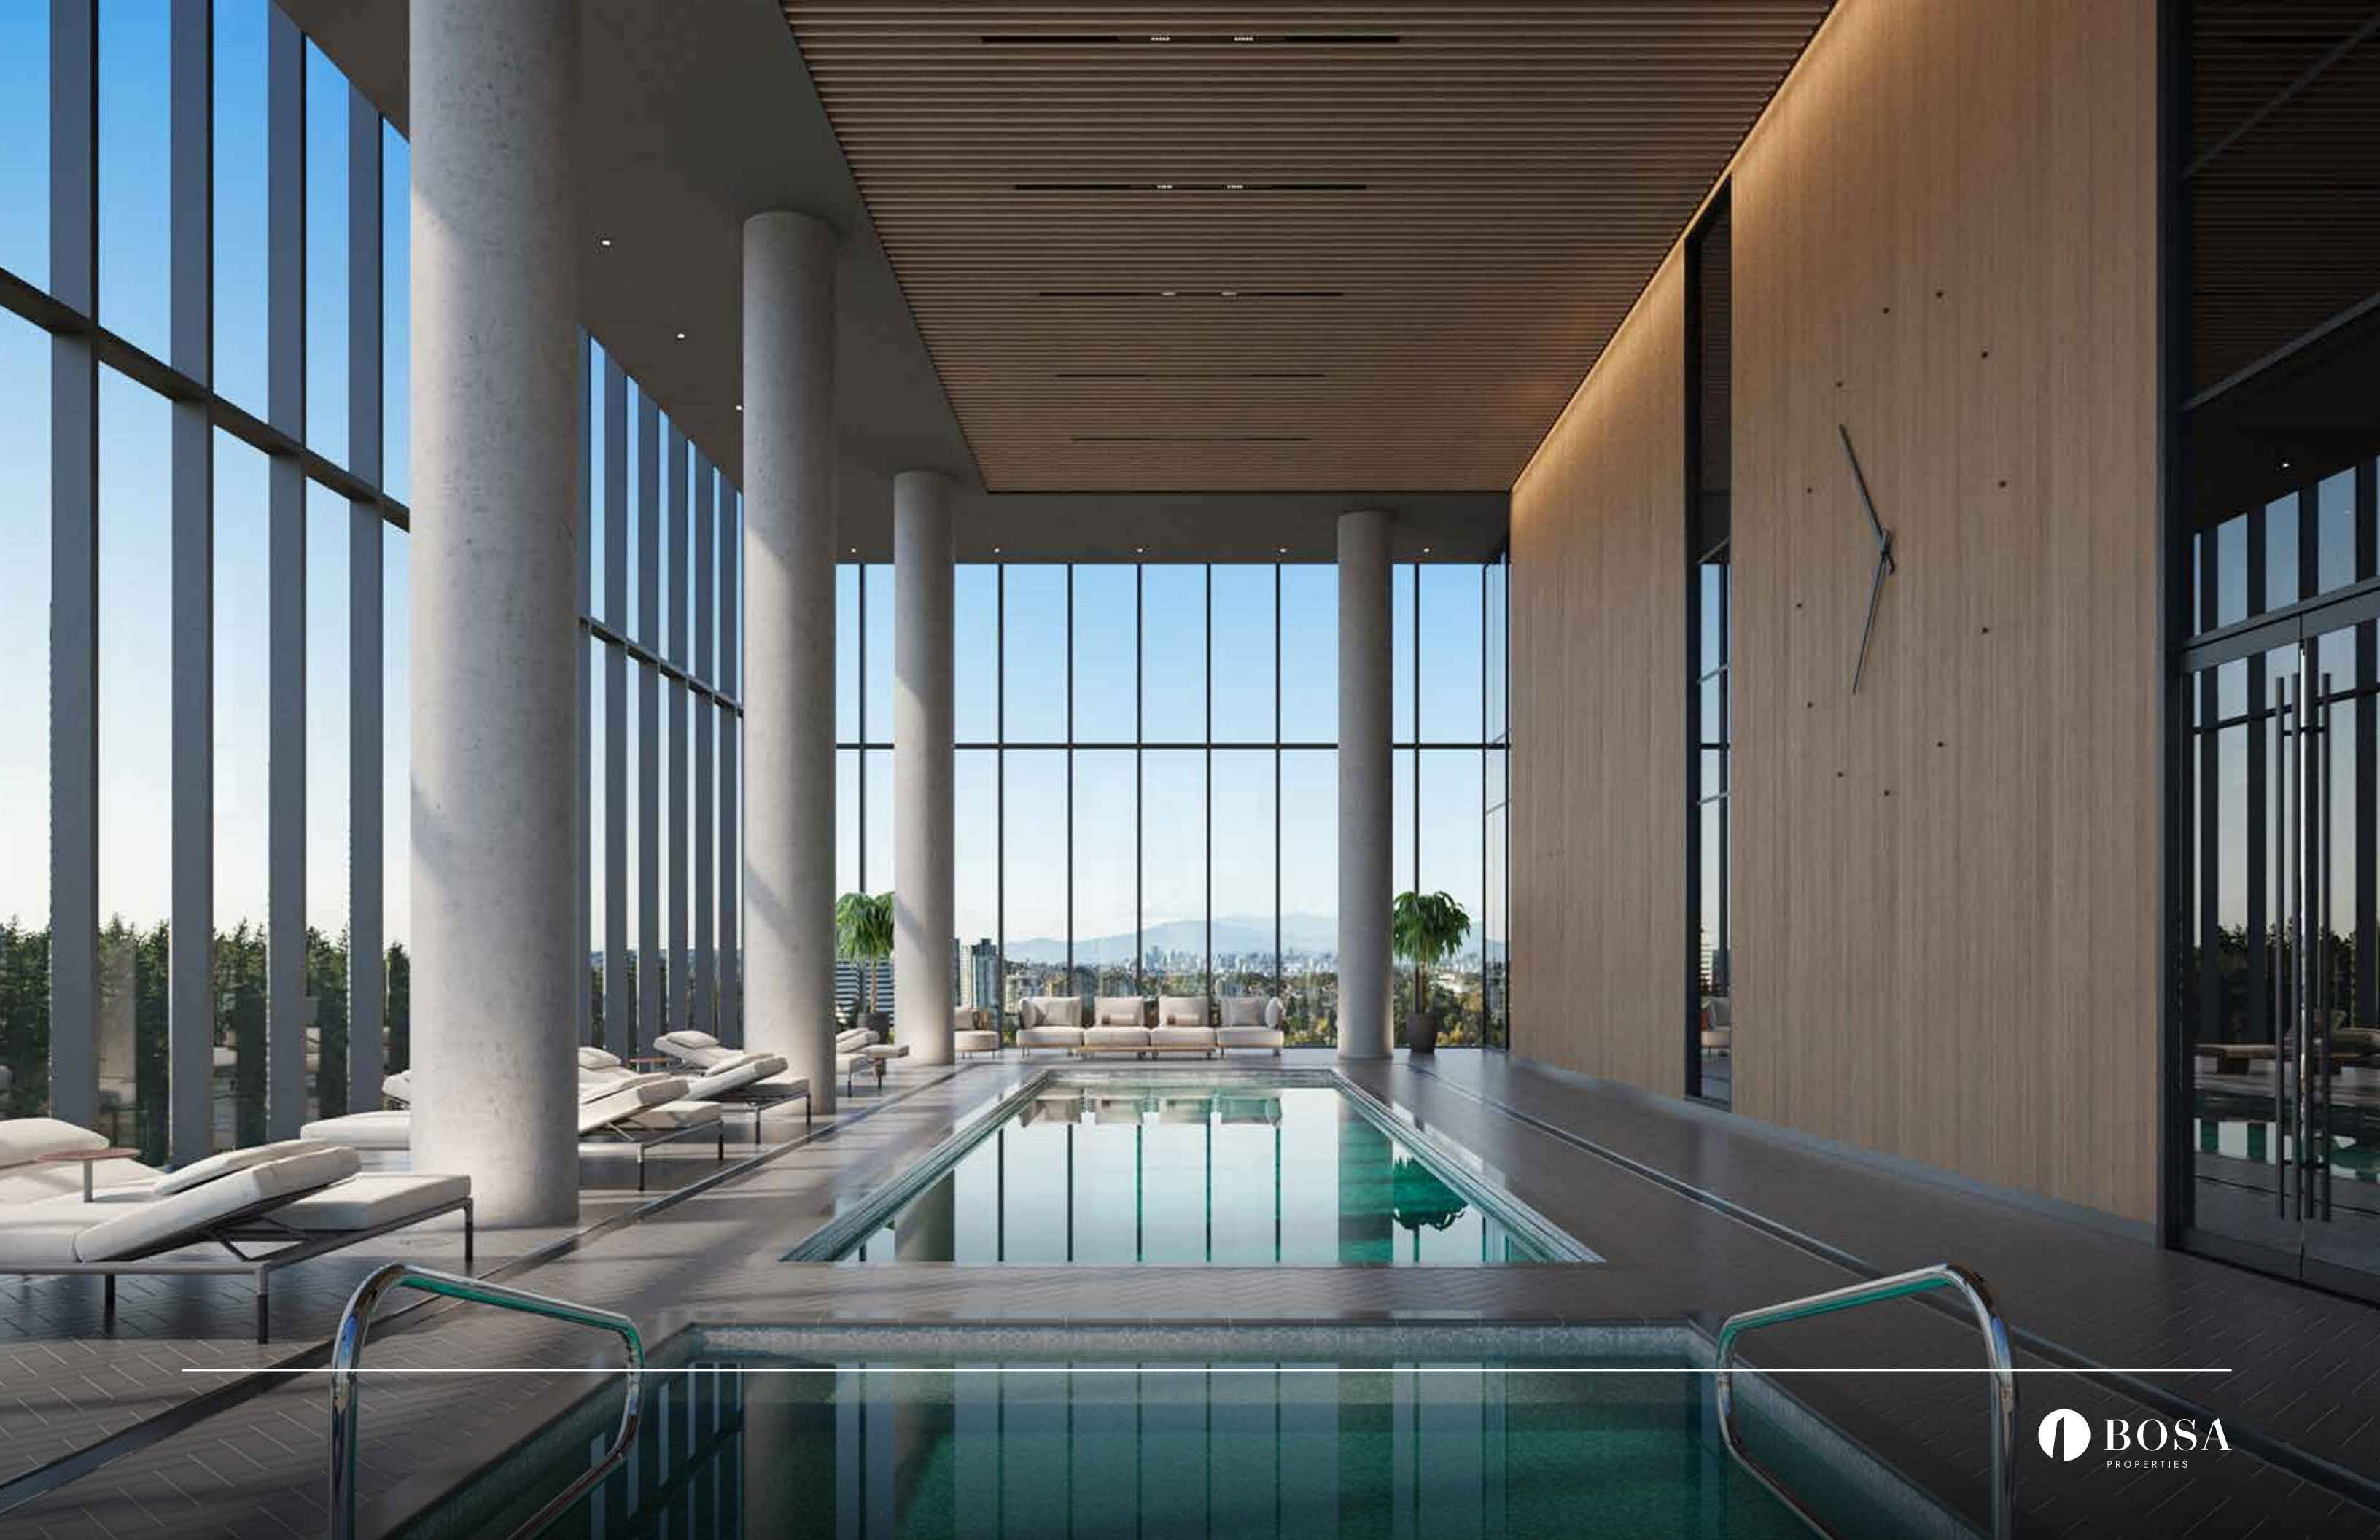

Central Park House

A singular tower overlooking the vast beauty of Central Park. With balance, residents will find themselves in equilibrium, connected both to nature and all Metrotown has to offer.

Central Park House will feature a double-height lobby, a multilevel amenity pavilion and is prominently cantilevered from midway up the tower. This thoughtfully designed tower will challenge the typical high-rise typology.

A Quiet, Tree-Lined Street

Central Park House is the convergence point between the urban energy of Metrotown and the natural beauty of Central Park. This separation and access to open space fosters wellness and provides a moment for pause and reflection.
